Since we've last corresponded, the United States Jaycees (Junior Chamber) Foundation has been very busy in continuing to provide assistance to the national organization, as well as state and local chapters, in the areas of training, development and disaster relief.

Some recent projects of note include an annual donation to Leadership Academy and the Ten Outstanding Young Americans Program (TOYA) and disaster relief to Jaycee chapters across the country, listed below, just to name a few!

Wildfires – California Jaycees
Flooding – Illinois, Iowa and North Dakota Jaycees
Hurricane – Houston Asian Jaycees (TX), Hattiesburg Jaycees (MS)
Tornado – Missouri, Alabama and Georgia Jaycees Tornadoes
Gulf of Mexico Drilling Rig Oil Spill – North Shore Jaycees (LA)
JCI training – Hawaii and California Jaycees

Most recently the Foundation has been able to provide technological support in providing a source for the national organization to conduct Internet Web Conferences for trainings and meetings. The Foundation has also undertaken the major project of moving the Jaycees Archives from Tulsa to their new "home" in St. Louis.

As the Foundation continues its mission, "Preservation of the Past – Inspiration for the Future," enclosed you will find a brochure with more information on how you can support the organization.

Jaycees founder Henry Giessenbier, Jr. stated, "In your hands lies the destiny of a great organization. Let us build it to national recognition... Let us not fail in this task!"

Your support of the Foundation will guarantee that we will not fail at this task and that the mission of the organization will continue for years to come!

Yours in Jaycees,

Raj Nadkarni

Legacy

The Foundation recognizes first-hand the impact the Jaycees organization has on individuals and communities across the United States, and around the world, and strives to ensure that those opportunities continue for the young people of tomorrow.

The Foundation has accepted the challenge of sharing the rich history and tradition of the Jaycees movement with its members, retired “Roosters” and the public. To this end, the Foundation has begun to build a virtual museum – an archive of the Jaycees – in hopes of sharing the successes and challenges that have faced the organization over the years, but more importantly, to provide a chance to touch and feel the rich fabric of this truly unique organization that has spread into a worldwide movement.

Giessenbier stated, “In your hands lies the destiny of a great organization. Let us build it to national recognition. Let us organize it in the interest of the young people for a greater America. Let us not fail in this task!”

Your support will guarantee that we will not fail at this task and that the mission of the organization will continue for years to come!

Please consider including the USJC Foundation in your estate planning, consult your financial advisor for more information.

“Preservation of the Past, Inspiration for the Future.”

In June 1921, Henry Giessenbier Jr. said in his closing remarks at the first annual Jaycees convention, “We have definitely launched a great institution into the world of progress.”

With that, The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce – Jaycees – was officially on its way with a bank balance of $48.21 and a million dollars worth of dreams.

It is with your continued financial support of the United States Jaycees Foundation that will make the “dreams” come true for the members of the Jaycees for years to come!

“The Foundation plays a vital role in the training initiatives and community support of the Jaycees across the nation. Without their financial assistance many opportunities for our young professionals will not be possible.”

USJC 89th President
John Weber, North Dakota

Lead

The mission of the Foundation is to provide financial assistance and support to the Jaycees organization – its members, their programs and activities, for the purposes of leadership development and growth.

The Foundation, like other organizations, must keep up with the current communications and technologies available, and we've developed a group to research those avenues from the vast membership, both past and present. In this way we can assist the Jaycees with similar tasks that will help advance the organization in developing stronger leaders.

"When State Presidents said they needed a way to communicate outside of national meetings and conference calls to have trainings and discuss ideas, the Foundation purchased an Internet Webinar subscription and now Webinars are run often – sometimes twice weekly."

2011 USJC Chief of Staff
2009 USJC NVP
Chrystal Ramsay, Florida

"The Foundation assisted us in providing leadership training to over 150 state & chapter presidents and leaders by offering more than 20 trainings sessions in a three day period; plus we were also able to send everyone home with a flash drive containing all the documents and instructions they would need to be successful."

USJC 91st President
Joanie Cramer, North Carolina

Each year, the Foundation provides financial support for the Leadership Academy – a national training program for state presidents, chapter presidents and other Jaycee leaders, as well as provides grants, as requested, for local, state, national & international causes.

Lend

"The Foundation provided us the finances to bring in a top-notch trainer for our members, and the partnership continues to provide opportunities to develop our members into the community leaders of tomorrow."

2010 State President
Stan J. Fichtman, Hawaii

The Jaycees have always been at the forefront in assisting others in need – it is that trait which makes the membership truly unique. The Foundation has also been on the front lines in providing assistance across the country, and beyond, through grants to chapter and state organizations. Whether floods or hurricanes, wildfires or tornadoes, the Foundation is a no-cost clearing house for individuals to donate, knowing the funds will be used by Jaycees in their local communities.

"During Hurricane Ike, the Foundation built bridges between humanitarian resources and funding in providing disaster relief and opportunities; they were the candle in the dark that brought hope back to the shattered lives left behind."

Houston-Asian Jaycees
2008 Chapter President
Rahyab Arif, Texas

"The Foundation is an excellent resource and support which Jaycees can lean on in times of need, and they made the process of helping local chapters so simple it resulted in more time and focus being spent on helping the local community."

2011 State President
Stephen Coffey, Missouri
